

Pouchfill Packaging finds a home in America and in Volusia County

Pouchfill Packaging, LLC has selected Daytona Beach as the site for a new manufacturing facility and North American headquarters. Team Volusia Economic Development Corporation worked closely with the company and Enterprise Florida to help secure a location in Daytona Beach. The company purchased a 19,800 square foot building on Fentress Court. The facility will house 75 new employees with an average annual wage of $53,503. The capital investment by the firm will be $12,000,000.

Pouchfill Packaging is a leader in contract manufacturing of liquid products into stand-up pouches. It has created a state-of-the-art manufacturing facility, capable of filling 22 million pouches per month. Sizes and filling range are from 4 ounces to 1 gallon size pouches. The company is supported by two U.S. subsidiaries of Japanese global companies. Toppan USA, Inc. and Mitsui Plastics, Inc.

The company employs food scientists and microbiologists to provide clients with raw material analysis, process control and validation. The entire staff is CGMP and HAACP trained and registered with the FDA. The manufacturing facility is designed for efficiency, which allows optimum production, quick changeovers and products of exceptional quality.
